Re: Tutor.com Refresher Presentation
Date: August 12, 2015

On Wednesday, August 12, 2015 I attended the Tutor.com Live Homework Help! refresher course at the Nassau Library System. This presentation gave me the opportunity to learn all about the website and what it has to offer. This meeting proved to be very informative especially since I was not too familiar with the services that the program provided. I was very surprised to see all the assistance that the expert tutors and the website were able to give the students from Kindergarten through College Intro as well as adult learners and job seekers.

This website provides services from homework help and online tutoring for all subjects as well as providing writing assistance for essay's and research papers. In addition, there is 24/7 access to SAT/ACT resources, Math resources, instructional videos and so much more! It was a great experience and proved to be especially useful since I am still new to the position.

Thank you!
